

Charles Fratz, Megan E. Rossetter, Sarah Teller, and Henry Lander, four 2nd Year MIT MBA class students, have joined us for the next three weeks (until January 27th) to work on a special project that applies to PACIV as a whole.

These students are part of an MIT course titled Entrepreneurship and Sustainable Economic Development in Puerto Rico. This is a collaborative project between MIT and Puerto Rico, sponsored by Mr. Jon Borschow, a successful entrepreneur in Puerto Rico and an MIT Alumni.

Their core objective is to evaluate PACIV's current organizational structure and systems and optimize its existing operations, with the intent to create a replicable model for global growth.

Please join us in welcoming Charles, Megan, Sarah and Henry to PACIV.
